Zoning Ordinance Rewrite, Map Amendment Move Into Adoption Phase

Rockville's Zoning Ordinance Rewrite and Comprehensive Map Amendment project has entered its final phase: the adoption process.

This begins a monthslong period of public review expected to shape the final zoning ordinance and map, with adoption anticipated later in 2026.

On Dec. 1, the Mayor and Council authorized staff to file a recommended draft of the zoning text amendment, which would revise and replace the city's zoning ordinance, and a recommended draft of the comprehensive map amendment, which would update the city's zoning map.

This authorization launched the formal adoption process. Over coming months, the Planning Commission will hold public hearings and work sessions to review the draft, recommend revisions, and forward the documents to the Mayor and Council for their review and final action. Community members will have multiple opportunities to provide input throughout the process, which is expected to take about six months.

Staff drafts of the updated zoning ordinance and map are available for review at Engage Rockville, engagerockville.com/zoningrewrite. To help understand the proposed changes, city staff created a summary document, "Highlights: City of Rockville Staff Draft Zoning Ordinance," which outlines key changes and indicates sections of interest.

An interactive version of the draft zoning map allows users to pan across the city, zoom in and out, search for specific properties, compare current and proposed zoning using a slider tool, and view parcel-specific information. Static map files are also available.

To support public understanding and feedback, the Department of Community Planning and Development Services hosted an orientation session on Dec. 4. Video of the session is available at engagerockville.com/zoningrewrite. A second, identical virtual session is scheduled for 7 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 7, via Webex. Register at the Engage Rockville website to receive a link to the session.

The Planning Commission received its initial briefing on the draft on Dec. 10 and identified topics for discussion at work sessions scheduled for early 2026. Meeting materials, including a video of the meeting and staff report, can be found at rockvillemd.gov/AgendaCenter.

Community members are encouraged to review the drafts and share feedback using the forms available at engagerockville.com/zoningrewrite. Each form includes structured questions and space for additional comments. Submissions will be shared with the Planning Commission and the Mayor and Council during their respective work sessions. Separate forms are available for the staff drafts of the zoning ordinance and zoning map.

There is hope.

988 SUICIDE & CRISIS LIFELINE

Take the Survey and Request a Test: Water Service Line Inventory Efforts Continue

Rockville is continuing efforts to identify materials used in customers' drinking water service lines.

In December, a new notification letter was mailed to customers whose service lines are still classified as being of unknown material or as "galvanized requiring replacement." GRR pipes may have been connected downstream from a lead service line, creating a risk of lead in drinking water. The Environmental Protection Agency's Lead and Copper Regulations require they be replaced.

To create a comprehensive service line inventory, city staff have reviewed historical records and conducted two rounds of customer self-reporting surveys in November 2024 and July 2025. Next steps include data analytics, targeted field verification and door-to-door visits to efficiently confirm pipe materials for hard-to-access lines.

As of December, no lead service lines have been identified within the City of Rockville's water system. Preliminary customer survey results identified 23 GRR pipes exclusively on the customer-owned portion of the service line.

Rockville encourages all customers with unknown service lines to visit rockvillemd.gov/lcrr to complete a service line inventory survey for their home. The webpage also offers customers with unknown or GRR lines the opportunity to request free water testing. Testing provides essential information for protecting public health and ensuring the inventory is accurate.

To learn more, visit rockvillemd.gov/lcrr, email lcrr@rockvillemd.gov or call the Department of Public Works at 240-314-8500.

Changes Coming to Multifamily Housing Inspections and Licensing

Rockville will implement several changes to its multifamily rental inspection and licensing program beginning Thursday, Jan. 1, including new mold response timelines, a larger inspection sample and an enhanced inspection option tied to inspection results.

The updates will be administered by the City of Rockville Code Enforcement team within the Department of Community Planning and Development Services' Inspection Services Division.

One change aligns the city's process with the Maryland Tenant Mold Protection Act. Landlords are required to conduct a mold assessment within 15 days after receiving written notice regarding suspected mold from a tenant, building occupant or the applicable local agency that enforces housing and livability codes. If the assessment determines mold remediation is required, it must be completed within 45 days after the assessment is completed, or within a reasonable amount of time if 45 days is not feasible.

Beginning with the 2026 renewal cycle, the city will increase the required inspection sample for multifamily rental license renewals from 20% to 25% of units.

Rockville is also incorporating an enhanced inspection program as an additional layer of compliance. Depending on the inspection results and thresholds established by the chief of Inspection Services, the city may require additional units to be inspected before an annual rental license is renewed. The expanded inspection may include as much as 50% of a property's units.

Initial and renewal applications for multifamily rental licenses will be available through MGO Connect, Rockville's online portal for permits, planning and development applications, beginning Jan. 1.

City Honors Employees for Service and Outstanding Performance

Sixty-nine Rockville employees with a combined 1,070 years of service were recognized during the annual City of Rockville Employee Awards Ceremony, held December at the F. Scott Fitzgerald Theatre.

The ceremony, honoring staff with tenures of five to 35 years, included presentation of the Bill Mason Award for Outstanding Performance, which recognizes employees who exemplify exceptionally high-quality service, a strong work ethic and a willingness to go the extra mile. The award is named team operations by training new employees and offering suggestions to improve work processes. His commitment has often extended beyond regular hours to ensure projects are completed to a high standard.

Brown was recognized for his consistent professionalism, strong attendance record and positive approach to work. He is known for handling both complex and routine tasks with care and enthusiasm while fostering a collaborative team environment. Brown's reliability and supportive nature have contributed to both indi-for the late William "Bill" Mason, who served as an example of outstanding performance and dedicated service to the City of Rockville.

The 2025 Bill Mason Award was presented to Walter Pocasangre of the Department of Recreation and Parks and Donovan Brown of the Department of Public Works.

Pocasangre, a maintenance worker with the horticulture crew, has served Rockville for more than 18 years. He plays a key role in maintaining the city's parks and green spaces, contributing to planting projects, landscaping improvements and daily park care. Known for his reliability and attention to detail, Pocasangre also supports vidual and team success within the public works department.

The city also recognized employees reaching significant service milestones. Three employees were honored for 35 years of service: Frank Lewis and Patricia Powell of Public Works and Anthony Tilford of Recreation and Parks. Together, they represent 105 years of dedicated service to the Rockville community.

The annual ceremony celebrates employees whose commitment and performance help deliver high-quality services and support the city's mission to serve residents effectively.

FY 2025 Financial Reports Highlight Rockville's Finances

Summaries Give Public a Look at the City's Fiscal Health

Two annual reports that are now posted online give the public a closer look at Rockville's financial health during the most recently completed fiscal year.

For Fiscal Year 2025, which closed June 30, the city ended "with an overall net position of $375.5 million, an increase of 4.3 percent from the prior year," City Manager Jeff Mihelich wrote in the city's Popular Annual Financial Report, a summary document highlighting the city's finances. Net position is a useful indicator of a government's financial health and represents total assets minus total liabilities.

"This growth was driven by higher property and income tax receipts, increased charges for services, and additional tax duplication revenue, paired with thoughtful, conservative spending across all departments," Mihelich wrote.

The city ended the year with a general fund reserve of $31.8 million, equal to 29.2% of the FY 2025 general fund adopted revenue. The general fund is the main source of funding for the city's day-to-day operations.

The city maintains a triple-A bond rating. Triple-A is the highest possible rating and saves Rockville taxpayers money by allowing the city to borrow at the lowest possible interest rates.

The city created the first PAFR in 2007 to explain, in layman's terms, information contained in Rockville's since-renamed Annual Comprehensive Financial Report. The ACFR is prepared by the Finance Department in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and audited by certified public accountants.

The FY25 PAFR describes:

- The city government and services.
- Rockville demographics and statistics.
- The city's financial structure, including governmental funds, such as the general fund and the capital projects fund, and enterprise funds.
- The overall financial health of the city.
- The city's capital investments and debt.
- Property taxes and utility rates, including how to read tax and utility bills.

The report also lists city accomplishments and accolades and spotlights "Rockville's vision for a vibrant, accessible, and welcoming urban core" in its Town Center Master Plan.

The PAFR and ACFR are available at rockvillemd.gov/financialreports.

Rockville Recognized for Excellent Financial Reporting

Rockville was proud to accept, for the 35th year in a row, the Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting Award from the Government Finance Officers Association for Fiscal Year 2024. The award recognizes the excellence of the documents produced by the city's Finance Department, including the city's operating budget and capital improvements program, as well as the ACFR and PAFR. GFOA evaluates the reports for the information they present, reader appeal, understandability, distribution and other elements. Staff is confident that the FY25 reports will again earn this distinction.

Protect Our Parks, Streams and Neighborhoods: Put Pet Waste in the Trash

Pet waste belongs in the trash, not on the ground. Pet waste contains twice as much bacteria per gram as human waste. In your yard, in parks, in the dog park – wherever you are, pick up the poop and put it in the trash. Follow these tips to prevent pet waste from contaminating our streams:

- Carry disposable bags and pick up after your pet, even on trails and in the woods. If you hire a dog walker, make sure they pick up after your pet when on their walk.
- Properly dispose of pet waste by bagging the waste and depositing it a trash can or pet waste receptacle.
- Do not throw bagged pet waste into storm drains or the woods, and do not leave it on the ground.
- Be sure to pick up pet waste on your property, too. Anything washed away by rain will end up in streams.
- Reuse bags that would have ended up in the trash to pick up after pets. Ask co-workers, neighbors and friends to collect plastic bags used for bread, newspapers, bagels or produce. Save money by not having to buy pet waste bags or pay the 10-cent fee for bags at grocery stores.

Recycle the Holidays (But Be Careful with Batteries)

As the post-holiday cleanup begins, remember: Rockville collects and recycles electronics, such as cell phones, computers, televisions and holiday lights through requests for special collections.

The city also collects Christmas trees as part of its recycling and trash collection. See the “Recycle Right” article on page 5.

Don’t dispose of batteries in your trash or recycling cart, where they could start a fire. Instead, bring batteries of any size to the household hazardous waste drop-off at the county transfer station at 16105 Frederick Road.

Find more information, including locations that accept batteries for recycling, at bit.ly/BatteryDisposal.

For more information about how Rockville recycles, including printable holiday schedule calendars for collection day, or to request a special collection, visit rockvillemd.gov/recycling-trash.

Rockville Urges Testing During National Radon Action Month

January is National Radon Action Month and Rockville is helping residents protect their homes and health with a radon information session and free test kits.

Radon is an invisible, odorless and tasteless radioactive gas. While no immediate symptoms signal its presence, exposure at high levels can cause cancer. Testing is the only way to know a home’s radon levels.

The Rockville Senior Center will host a free in-person and virtual information session where participants can learn what radon is, why it can be a hidden health risk in homes and how it affects well-being. The session will also cover simple testing methods and resources for reducing radon exposure. Register with course #38536 at rockvillemd.gov/registration. The session will be held 10-11 a.m. Wednesday, Jan. 14.

Order a discounted radon test kit via the link at rockvillemd.gov/radon.

The test involves placing a small measuring device in the middle of the basement or lowest level of a home, raised 3 feet off the ground for two to four days. Directions included with the kit explain how to mail the device to a laboratory for results.

Rockville’s building code requires all new single-family construction to include passive radon mitigation features. These include sub-floor preparation, installation of a soil-gas retarder, closure of potential radon entry routes and installation of vent pipes. These elements are verified through required city inspections.

Montgomery County’s home energy disclosure and radon testing laws apply to the sale of single-family homes and townhomes in Rockville and require specific rental properties to be tested for radon. The laws provide residents with access to important home health and energy information, supporting the goal of protecting public health from radon exposure and promoting home energy efficiency, an objective of Rockville’s Climate Action Plan.

For more information, visit rockvillemd.gov/radon.

REDUCE YOUR RADON RISK

The only way to know is to test!
Find resources about test kits, mitigation methods and questions to ask a professional at the webpage below.

Radon is a colorless, odorless, radioactive gas that can build up inside the home and increase the risk of lung cancer.

Test your home at least every two years. It's easy and inexpensive.

If your radon levels are 4.0 pCi/L or higher, consult a radon mitigation professional.

Bring Your Own Bag Law Now Applies in Rockville

The new year means many Rockville businesses are prohibited from using plastic carryout bags after the Mayor and Council voted to apply Montgomery County’s Bring Your Own Bag Law in the City of Rockville.

The goal of the law, which takes effect Thursday, Jan. 1, is to reduce waste, protect our waterways and encourage everyone to bring their own reusable bags.

What the New Law Means

- No more plastic carryout bags at many businesses. Plastic carryout bags will no longer be allowed starting Thursday, Jan. 1, with certain exceptions.
- Paper bags will cost 10 cents each. If you forget your reusable bag, you can purchase a paper bag at the checkout.
- Bring reusable bags. Save money and the environment by keeping reusable bags handy. They’re sturdier, hold more and won’t rip on the way home.

Exemptions from the Law

- Plastic bags are still allowed in some instances, including medications from pharmacies, fresh produce, meats, seafood or bulk items, farmers markets, yard sales, and dry cleaning and garment bags.
- The 10-cent paper bag tax does not apply to transactions paying with SNAP/ EBT (Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program/Electronic Benefits Transfer), WIC-FVC (Women, Infants and Children) or other state-approved food assistance benefits at a grocery store.
- Restaurants are not required to collect the tax from customers for paper bags used to carry out prepared or leftover food or drink.

Learn more about the law at montgomerycountymd.gov/bag, where you will also find a "Report a Bag Tax Law Violation" link for reporting a possible carryout bag violation by a retailer.

Winter Salt-eratives: Environment-Friendly Tips for Deicing

When it comes to winter salt, less is more. Not only is a small amount of salt necessary to melt ice, using too much can damage landscaping, harm pets and local wildlife, and contaminate streams and drinking water. Follow these tips to be salt smart this winter.

Shovel early and often. Deicers work best for melting thin layers of snow or ice. So, shovel first, break up any ice patches you can and then add the deicer.

Use less salt. Sprinkle deicer sparingly and evenly and leave space between the grains. More is not better. A 12-ounce mug of salt is enough to treat a 20-foot driveway or 10 sidewalk squares. Consider organic, salt-free and pet-safe deicers.

Sweep and reuse. After a weather event, sweep and collect any sand, salt or undissolved deicer. Any excess can be reused for the next storm. Letting it run off into waterways is harmful to drinking water and wildlife.

Interested in doing more to raise awareness about salt pollution? Croydon Creek Nature Center will host a Salt Watch Community Science Initiative from 1-2 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 24. Registration is free using course #38557 at rockvillemd.gov/registration. Get involved with the city’s partners at the Izaak Walton League by taking part. Learn more at iwla.org/salt-watch.

Are you a business owner or property manager? Find salt best practices and tips for hiring a winter maintenance professional at montgomerycountymd.gov/salt.

Recycle Right in the New Year — and All Year

How to Recycle Christmas Trees, Polystyrene, Needles and Bags

From taking away your Christmas tree to purging your home of plastic bags, the city's recycling and trash collections can help you safely clean up from the holidays and year-round.

Rockville collects Christmas trees as part of its recycling collection. Place trees at the curb for pickup on regular recycling and trash collection days after removing all ornaments and metals, wires, stands and decorations, including tinsel. Trees should not be bagged. There is no deadline for curbside collection of trees.

The county recommends recycling branches and needles at home by using them as ground cover under trees and shrubs or by chopping them up and adding them to a compost pile.

Artificial trees cannot be recycled and should be placed in the gray trash cart for regular weekly collection. Artificial trees that are too large to fit in the cart can be collected by appointment as one of six bulk collections allowed per year or taken to the transfer station.

For bulk-waste disposal information, visit rockvillemd.gov/bulkwaste.

Rockville collects used polystyrene as part of its weekly trash collection and takes it, along with other household refuse, for disposal in the county's waste-to-energy incinerator. Often mistakenly called "Styrofoam," the material, commonly used to protect package contents during shipping, should not be placed in recycling carts. Instead, place it in the gray trash cart.

When disposing of needles, such as medical sharps and syringes, use containers made of heavy-duty plastic that close tightly with a puncture-proof lid. This prevents recycling and trash collection crews from getting stuck. Label the container and place it in the middle of household trash in the gray trash cart or find a disposal program. Learn more about safe disposal at bit.ly/howtorecyclesharps.

Find a grocery store that accepts plastic bags for recycling; Visit bit.ly/howtorecyclebags.

Got a city recycling or trash cart that's falling apart? Damaged lift bars on city recycling or trash carts can cut customers and crew members. Call 240-314-8568. The city will replace it for you.

Volunteer to Shovel Snow

If you're handy with a shovel and don't mind digging out an extra driveway or clearing a walkway or two, you can sign up and volunteer for a city program that pairs volunteers with seniors and individuals with disabilities.

The Rockville Senior Center's home maintenance coordinator organizes the program and can connect you with neighbors in need near your home. What better way to celebrate the season of selfless giving?

Portable Heaters Can Help — and Hurt

As temperatures drop, many households turn to portable electric space heaters to supplement central heating or warm a single room. While these heaters are common, they can pose serious fire risks if used improperly.

According to the National Fire Protection Association, two in five deaths caused by space heater fires involve portable electric space heaters. Following basic safety guidelines can help reduce the risk of fire and injury during colder months.

Portable electric space heaters come in several types, including oil or water-filled radiators, fan-forced heaters, ceramic heaters and infrared heaters. While designs vary, safety recommendations apply to all models.

When purchasing a space heater, look for one that has the seal of a qualified testing laboratory. Heaters should include a thermostat, overheat protection and an automatic shutoff feature that turns the unit off if it tips over.

Placement is critical. Space heaters should be kept at least 3 feet away from anything that can burn, including furniture, curtains and people. Heaters should always be placed on a solid, flat surface and kept out of walkways, and should never block an exit.

Electric space heaters should be plugged directly into a wall outlet. Extension cords should not be used. Children should be kept away from space heaters at all times.

Turn off and unplug space heaters when leaving a room or going to bed.

Following these precautions and reduce the risk of fire during the winter season.

Free, Reconditioned Bikes for TERRIFIC Kids Who Do Good Deeds

Rockville has outstanding kids, and every TERRIFIC kid needs a bike.

How do you prove you're TERRIFIC? Show trustworthiness, earnestness, respect, responsibility, involvement, fairness, industriousness and care.

The TERRIFIC Challenge is a program that provides free, refurbished bicycles and helmets to Rockville residents in grades 1-5 who complete six out of 16 good deeds. Examples include volunteering at a local charity, helping a neighbor or keeping a clean school environment.

Registration for the 2026 program opens Tuesday, Jan. 20. Registration is due Tuesday, Feb. 17. Additional information will be sent by email Monday, March 2.

Due to the limited number of bicycles, preregistration is required. Participants who are selected will receive instructions on how to track and submit completed good deeds.

For questions or more information, call 240-314-8620 or email registration@rockvillemd.gov. Information is also available at rockvillemd.gov/terrificbikes.

The program also accepts bicycle donations. Donated bicycles are refurbished and awarded to participants. To donate a bicycle, contact Rockville Bike Hub at rockvillebikehub@gmail.com. Visit rockvillebikehub.org for information.

Evening Talk to Explore History and Future of Croydon Creek Nature Center

Learn more about the history and future of Croydon Creek Nature Center during an evening seminar, part of the Glenview Mansion – Peerless Rockville Speaker Series at Glenview Mansion.

“Croydon Creek Nature Center: Past, Present, and Future” will be held from 7-8 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 8, at Glenview Mansion, 603 Edmonston Drive.

Croydon Creek Nature Center supervisor Melinda Norton will present a behind-the-scenes look at the center, including how it began, the philosophy that guides its work and its plans moving forward. Since opening on Earth Day in 2001, the center has served as a resource for families, students and others interested in learning about the natural environment.

The program will explore the center's early development, its educational mission and the goals that continue to shape its role in connecting people with nature.

Space is limited. Registration is required and available at peerlessrockville.org or with course #36327 at rockvillemd.gov/registration.

Art and Family: This Month at the Civic Center

Student art and the ties of family are what's happening this January at the Rockville Civic Center, 603 Edmonston Drive.

Rockville Student Juried Art Exhibit Comes to Gallery

Meet the artists of the Rockville Student Juried Art Exhibit, 1:30-3:30 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 25 at the Glenview Mansion Art Gallery, 603 Edmonston Drive.

Attendees will be able to talk to students about their artwork. The event is free and open to the public.

The students' art, in varied media, will be on display Jan. 25-Feb. 13.

Rockville Little Theatre Presents “Close Ties”

8 p.m. Jan. 30 and 31 and Feb. 6 and 7; 2 p.m. Feb. 1 and 8.

The Frye family gathers at their vacation home in the Berkshires, ruled for three generations by Josephine, their willful matriarch and center of the family. But what happens as the younger Fries discover their center cannot hold? “Close Ties” celebrates the humor, the truth and the mystery of family. By Elizabeth Diggs; directed by Vanessa Markowitz.

Tickets cost $24, $22 for students and seniors. Group pricing available. Call the box office for more information. Visit fscottfitzgerald.showare.com/Ties for tickets.

Public Art Projects Across Rockville Move Into Next Phase

Several public art projects across Rockville are advancing, with artist selection, community engagement and early planning activities scheduled through 2026.

As part of the David Scull Park Improvement Project, public artwork is planned to serve as a gateway entrance and park sign at the main entrance near Taft Street and East Gude Drive.

The city's call for artists outlines a national selection process with an all-inclusive budget of $140,000-$200,000 covering design, fabrication, installation and related costs. Two finalists are expected to develop site-specific proposals, including a visit to Rockville and meeting with project stakeholders, before a final recommendation that will be forwarded to the Cultural Arts Commission and Mayor and Council for approval.

The art project is part of broader improvements focused to make the park more accessible while maintaining its role as a community gathering space.

Work is also scheduled to begin this month on the Memory Walk Park Public Art Project in the Lincoln Park neighborhood. The project will start with a hybrid community engagement workshop, 11:30 a.m.-1 p.m. at Croydon Creek Nature Center or via Webex, followed by interviews between Lincoln Park residents and the selected artist, Dina Fisher. Email aodell@rockvillemd.gov to sign up for the workshop.

Memory Walk Park, at 300 Lincoln Ave., is a reflective space that honors the history and legacy of the Lincoln Park community. The public art installation is planned as a permanent feature within the park.

In Twinbrook, a formal dedication is being planned for “Past to Promise,” a mural by Baltimore-based artist LaToya Peoples at the Twinbrook Community Recreation Center Annex, 12920 Twinbrook Parkway. The mural was installed in late 2025 and a public dedication is expected in early 2026. Additional details will be announced once the date is finalized.

For more information, contact Arts and Culture Program Manager Anne O'Dell at aodell@rockvillemd.gov.

Save the Date for Rockville Science Day: Exhibitors Wanted

Explore rockets, robots, chemistry, reptiles and more at Rockville Science Day on Sunday, April 26.

This Rockville tradition, now in its 35th year, will be held from noon-5 p.m. at Montgomery College, Rockville Campus, 51 Mannakee St. The free event offers individuals and families a chance to experience hands-on science and technology-related exhibits, activities, games, and demonstrations from 100 local organizations and businesses.

Organizers are seeking exhibitors to provide demonstrations, hands-on activities, performances or other science exhibits and presentations.

Visit rockvillesciencecenter.org/rockville-science-day for more information, including exhibitor registration, sponsorship and volunteering.

Beat the Winter Blues: Imagine Summer Camp Fun

Rockville's 2026 summer camps are gearing up for another season of fun and families can secure their spots soon. Registration opens 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 10 for residents and Thursday, Feb. 12 for non-residents and general registration, at rockvillemd.gov/ registration.

Summer Blast Camps return with full-day and extended-day options at elementary schools and community centers. Park Adventure Camps will offer full- and half-day sessions at neighborhood parks throughout Rockville. Both camps serve children ages 5-12 and run Monday, June 22 through mid-August.

Activities include swimming, field trips and a variety of games, crafts, water activities and outdoor playtime. Specialized camps include cooking, drama, STEAM, gymnastics and art, with new coding and pickleball camps added for 2026. All camps are licensed by the state and follow federal, state and local health and safety guidelines.

Teens can earn Student Service Learning hours as volunteers or join Teens on the Go for daily trips. College and high school students ages 16 and older can apply for summer positions at rockvillemd.gov/careers. Camp staff are selected for their enthusiasm, passion and experience working with children.

Year of the Horse

The Year of the Horse: Rockville's Lunar New Year Celebration is Feb. 21

Celebrate Rockville's Asian cultures with performances, interactive displays, kids' crafts and to-go snack boxes at the city's Lunar New Year celebration.

The annual celebration is scheduled for 1-3:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 21, at Richard Montgomery High School, 250 Richard Montgomery Drive. Multicultural performances will be presented from 1:30-3 p.m. The celebration will also include interactive displays, crafts for kids and to-go snack boxes, while supplies last. Admission is free.

In its 18th year, the Lunar New Year celebration is a source of pride for the city's Asian community and an educational opportunity for neighbors to learn about Asian culture. The city is organizing the celebration in partnership with Rockville's Asian Pacific American Task Force. The celebration will mark the Year of the Horse on the Chinese Zodiac calendar.

Local nonprofit 501(c) organizations may apply to host a display table at the celebration. Applications must be submitted by Friday, Jan. 30. Learn more in the community group application form at rockvillemd.gov/lunarnewyear.
